

Lost Kisses #24

I may never
be
whole
again

Shifting into different
traumatic life moments,
our star constantly
struggles with existential
dread.

Dedicated to Ethel,
my sun & my moon

April 2013

As soon as I open my eyes I know exactly
when & where I am.

I'm lying on the floor
of my grandmother's
bathroom.

At her feet with her
passed out on the toilet.

This is my last
night properly taking care of her.

Tomorrow she'll fall
into a coma.

It's a cerebral
hemorrhage.

She's already been
bleeding for four days.

& my magical skills are lacking to take the
injury into myself.

& carry her back to bed.

They say
the sense
of hearing
is the last
to go.

For the next week
I'll hold her hand &
tell her I love her.

As her body
starves to death.

Even knowing
exactly what's going
to happen...

...& having survived
it before...

...I'm not sure I can
take it again.

Time travel
fucking sucks.

I don't want to be here.

Why can't I be with
my grandmother...

...at a happy time?

Making cupcakes.

Baking apple cobbler.

Going for a walk.

Playing with balloons.

Almost anything
but this.

& what are they trying
to prepare me to do?

At what
amount of
emotional
trauma
is the human
mind
irreparable?

Are they trying to
drive me crazy?

Or make me a complete
emotional void?

Just let me die instead
of surviving.

Say to me, “Well done
my good & faithful
servant.”
